Practising at Bupa Cromwell

Bupa Cromwell Hospital considers applicants referred to here as 'practitioners'.

Practitioners may be introduced by colleagues or develop a specialty. A group of practitioners may aim of delivering a complete service for patients.

Applications are reviewed by the Practice Privileges Committee. Applicants are asked to submit further documentation.

Practitioners wishing to apply for practice privileges must complete the application pack for additional documentation, send it to the defence organisation and ongoing registration.

Once the completed application pack is received, it would be with the Medical Director and the Practice Privileges Committee.

Where to send applications

Applications should be sent to the Medical Administrator

Obtaining practice privileges

Once practice privileges have been given, practitioners who wish to use the facilities of the hospital on an ongoing basis must familiarise themselves with hospital policies, most specifically the Practice Privileges Policy document as well as our clinical governance policies. We are regulated by the Care Quality Commission and are committed to an extremely high standard of care.
