Following your child’s procedure

After your child has had their procedure, you are welcome to go with the nurse to the recovery area and return to the ward with your child when he or she is ready.

The consultant and nursing staff will discuss with you how the procedure has gone, and what you can expect to happen next. Depending on your child’s procedure it may be appropriate for them to spend a period of recovery in their room at the hospital in the care of specialist nurses and support staff.

There may be a follow-up consultation and review to prepare for your child to have a programme of physiotherapy, as required.

Otherwise, when your child is ready to be transferred to the ward, he or she will be quickly assessed by the Child Intensive Care Provider.
