Practising at Bupa Cromwell Hospital

Bupa Cromwell Hospital considers all practitioners referred to here as “practitioners”.

Practitioners may be introduced by collaborating team or develop a specialty. A group of specialists has been formed to carry out a complete service for patients.

Applications are reviewed by the Practice Privileges Committee. Practitioners are asked to submit further documentation to support the application pack.

Practitioners wishing to apply for practice privileges are advised to submit the application pack for additional documentation. All practitioners will undergo a background safety defense organization and ongoing risk assessment.

Once the completed application pack is received, the Medical Director and Clinical Director will visit the practitioner to ensure that all paperwork is complete.

Where to send applications

Applications should be sent to the Medical Director.

Obtaining practice privileges

Once practice privileges have been given, practitioners who wish to use the facilities of the hospital on an ongoing basis must familiarise themselves with hospital policies, most specifically the Practice Privileges Policy document as well as our clinical governance policies. We are regulated by the Care Quality Commission and are committed to an extremely high standard of care.
